

Editorial Antiques Evaluation Day

The National Vietnam Veterans Museum is proud and excited to present the 3rd annual Antiques Evaluation Day at the Museum on Sunday 10 June 2018. This day will be conducted in the style of the Antiques Roadshow with a range of specialists available to provide advice, information and estimates on items presented to them.

Take this opportunity to come along and chat with professionals about your particular treasures. We encourage you to bring, not just militaria, but also other antiques.

Our qualified specialists include:

Bronwyn Pratt (The Goldsmith's Gallery, San Remo),
Simon Storey, (Fine Arts, Heritage and Cultural collections),
Anne Rowland (Ballarat Arts Gallery) and
Stewart Dear, (Certified Practising Valuer, Tyabb Packing House Antiques).

Between them our assessors have a range of knowledge on different categories including jewellery, militaria, books, artwork, porcelain, ephemera, medals, and coins.

There will be some stalls to browse upon and don't forget to watch the famous holographic Sound & Light Show while you are in the Museum. If you haven't been to the Museum before, take some time to walk among the displays and exhibits.

All the activities will take place undercover, so it won't matter what the weather does. The Nui Dat Café will be open for refreshments.

The Museum would also like to thank our Major Sponsors, Phillip Island Experience for their generous support.

Standard admission fees apply. Call the Museum on 5956 6400 for more information or check out the website www.vietnamvetsmuseum.org
